89 Make President's Roll

Southwestern Oklahoma State University has announced both the President's and Dean's Honor Rolls for the 1983 spring semester.

A grade of "A" (4.0) in 15 semester hours of work taken during that time results in the student being named to the President's List. There are 89 students who have accomplished this.

Many others are on the Dean's List after completing 15 semester hours with a grade point average of "B" (3.0) or higher, with no grade lower than a "C."

Banwart Will Perform

By JAMES NIX

Lavanya Banwart, Dill City junior, has been chosen to participate in the Hobart Talent Show, which is the first step to winning an exclusive recording contract in Nashville.

She will be among 12 other contestants, who were all selected from their entries of demonstration tapes. The show's main requirement is that entrants must use only country and western music in their act.

When asked how she felt about being selected she responded, "I feel it's a great honor, and I'm really excited. It's something I've worked hard for, and I'm looking forward to doing it. I hope to do well and make it to the very top."

What does it take to become a musician? Banwart said, "It takes a lot of dedication and long hard hours of practice. You must be willing to put off a very active social life and learn your music. It also helps if you have parents to support and nurture you. My parents and family have always helped me pursue my career in music."

Banwart is an accomplished pianist and vocalist, who has won numerous honors in high school for her talents. She was the electric pianist in the Southwestern production of the "Fantasticks" last spring.

Lavanya, who is the daughter of Charles and Nadine Banwart, when asked how she will be preparing herself for the show, said, "I'll be practicing the song, which will be Willie Nelson's 'Angel Flying too Close to The Ground,' until it is perfected. I will also be psyching myself up in order to avoid performance anxiety."

Miss Banwart aspires to be a professional entertainer and appear on the Grand Ole Opry. She wishes that all her family and friends will be there so that there will be a few friendly faces out in the audience.

The show will be held at the Short Grass Playhouse in Hobart on June 18, beginning at 7 p.m. Sponsors for the show are KTJS Radio, Dodge Truck Motor Co., and Wrangler.

The show's winner will travel to the Tulsa State Fair and vie for the chance to win a trip to Nashville with a recording contract in hand and the use of a Dodge truck for one year.

FRONT ROW [l-r]: Richard Rule, Western Heights High School, Oklahoma City, who will compete in the bull riding event; Kerrie Beaman, Bennett, Colo., who will compete in all three of the women's events: goat-tying, breakaway roping, and barrel racing; and Charlotta Noble, Yale, who will compete in the three women's events, along with the team roping competition.

SECOND ROW [l-r]: Lynn Noble, Yale, who will compete with his sister Charlotta in the team roping event; Debbie Little, Ardmore, who is entered in all three women's events; Puddin' Payne, Stillwater, who will compete in calf roping, and Milburn Outhier, Vici, who will compete in bareback riding.

Shown are members of the Southwestern State University rodeo team who have qualified for participation in the National Finals College Rodeo held in Bozeman, Montana, June 20-26. To earn the right to compete in the rodeo, the entrant must have placed in the top two of his/her particular event for the school's region. The Southwestern women's rodeo group will compete as a team, as they placed first in their region.

Pharmacy School Admits Sixteen

Sixteen students at Southwestern Oklahoma State University have been admitted to Pharmacy School. Students are admitted to the professional program at three separate times annually: fall, spring, and summer semesters.

Following the completion of 60 semester hours of pre-pharmacy courses, the student makes application for Pharmacy School. The applicants then meet before the Admissions Committee where their grade averages, consistency of academic performance, ACT or SAT scores, character references, physical and emotional health, and personal objective and motivations are among the factors considered.

Students admitted for the summer semester include: Teresa Arlene Voss, Odin, Ill.; Pamela Gayle Childers, Springfield, Mo.; Timothy Jay Williams, Alex; Melinda May Meriwether, Hinton; Gerri Deanne Merritt Hammons, Laverne; Guy Brian Andrus, Lawton; Kelly Dawn Cannon, Meeker; Janice Marie Fitzpatrick, Southeast High School, Oklahoma City; Ammi Sue Morman, Perkins; Timothy Patrick O'Connor, Ponca City; Brian Scott Maxey, Tishomingo; Timothy Lynn Fancher, Amarillo, Tex.; Paul Gilbert Johnson, Kaufman, Tex.; DeWayne Lloyd Chapman, Mabank, Tex.; Vipul A. Vassa, London, England, and Chidi Darlington Okoroafor, Lagos, Nigeria.

Workshop Offers Experience

Practical experience will be emphasized during three days of intensive activity for high school students and teachers participating in journalism events on the Southwestern Oklahoma State University campus July 25-27.

Sessions will run concurrently in a newspaper workshop, a newspaper photography clinic, and yearbook production and photography seminars. Beginning and advanced sessions will be offered in newspaper and yearbook.

Dick Wilson, journalism advisor at Southwestern, said sessions are open to any high school or college students by paying the necessary fees. Teachers and high school seniors who qualify for the Step-Ahead program may enroll for one hour of college credit. To qualify for the latter, a student must meet certain grade requirements and have a written recommendation from his or her high school principal.

Wilson said "hands-on" experience will give participants in each session a working knowledge of the fundamentals of good journalism practices. Experienced public school and college teachers and professional photographers will lead discussions which are designed to demonstrate practical methods of achieving desirable results with facilities common found in public schools.

Among those who will guide newspaper participants are Pat Lightfoot, Eakly English teacher and former editor of "The Southwestern," and Lynda Johnson Mooreland journalism advisor. The latter is a member of the Journalism Society both on the local and national level and helped revise the code and rule for student journalists and student publications. There is no enrollment fee for newspaper workshop participants who do not enroll for college credit.

Photography sessions will be led by Dr. Richard Baugher of Southwestern.

Yearbook discussions which are part of the Seventh Annual Western Oklahoma Publications Seminar, directed by Tom Quaid of Taylor Publishing Company, will be led by Rick Hill, publication director of Cameron University, Lawton; Liz Burdette, Oklahoma City; Steve Fritz, Tulsa, and Doug Altom, Amarillo, Tex.

Fees for the yearbook and photography sessions, including room and board, are $80 and $90 respectively; $30 and $40 for commuters. Tuition cost for one hour of college credit will be $17.25.

Jurrens Takes Band On European Music Tour

Dr. James Jurrens is one of the advisors who is taking 208 students on the 13th annual European Tour of the Mid-America Band and Choir. The group left Wichita, Kan., by chartered Boeing 707 jet for London on June 8. While in Europe they will be performing, traveling, and sightseeing for three weeks across several countries.

The group assembled on the Wichita State University campus June 5 for three days of rehearsal before they departed for Europe. The band is directed by Dr. Jurrens, chairman of the music department at Southwestern, and the choir by Debra Spurgeon, voice instructor at Southwestern.

Concerts are scheduled for London, England; Chartres, France; Strasbourg, France; Morgins, Switzerland, and Unterwossen, Germany. Major sightseeing areas will include London, Paris, Zermatt (the Matterhorn), Lake Geneva, Strasbourg, Salzburg, Vienna, and Munich.

Students participating come from throughout Kansas and Oklahoma. Advisors for the students are public school and university music teachers from the two states with each advisor assisting a maximum of eight students in their travel. Dr. Jurrens serves as tour coordinator each year, and arrangements are handled through Voyageurs International out of Denver, Colo. The tour will conclude this year in Frankfurt, Germany, and will return to Wichita on June 27.

Those attending with the Southwestern Band and Choir are as follows: Amy Hamilton, Elizabeth Maxey, Charles Yates, Jonna Johnson, Taunya Daniels, Kathie Elb, Wilbur Gibson, Sharon Knapp, Amy Morris, Barbara Morris, Barbara Reynolds, Brian Arbour, Mark Caspersen, Sharon Cope, Gregory Miller, Lori Reimer, Lori Schievers, Barney Shelton, Sheli Yaffe and Valerie Yaffe.

Others include Alan and Debra Spurgeon, Andrea Buckmaster, Scott Dixon, Tammy Pauling,

Richard Royal, Angela Smith, Amy Vernon, Velma Tinch, Jon Sieber, Robert Tinch, Ray Wheeler, Erin Arkins, Sherry Haden, Terri Jacobs, Jamey McGaugh, Sharon Reiss, Emily Shewmaker, Rachel Sisk, Terri Zentner, Jaree Sieber, Joel Decker, and Trevalan Riggie.

19 Begin Work On MBA

Nineteen graduate students have been accepted as candidates to begin work toward the Master of Business Administration degree at Southwestern State University this summer, according to an announcement by Dr. Albert Gabriel, chairman of the Business Administration Department for the School of Business and the director of the MBA program.

Thirteen of the candidates completed undergraduate degrees at Southwestern. Those with undergraduate degrees in business administration are Kenneth David Ash, San Angelo, Tex.; Dorthay Bebout, Arapaho; Rosalie House, Colony; Betty Bowse, Wanette and Edgar Tillery, all of Elk City. Billy Carl Batten, Tulsa, and Orval McMillin, Fort Cobb, both have degrees in accounting.

Candidates with degrees in management are Gabriel U. Ikeke, Weatherford; Sylvanus Williams II, Weatherford, and Janie York, Reydon. Denise Ann Janzen Engleman, Beaver, holds a degree in vocational home economics. A degree in health administration is held by Richard Foster of Weatherford. Hershel Lee Hoffman Jr., Clinton, holds a degree in marketing.

Entering the Southwestern MBA program from other colleges and universities are Joyce Ann King Cain, Altus, an office administration graduate from Oklahoma State University; Ray Chiou, Weatherford, a forestry graduate from the Chinese Cultural University; Glenna Lunday, Weatherford, an accounting graduate from the University of Oklahoma, and Ricky Phillips, Carnegie, a health and physical education graduate from Cameron University.

Others are Dennis Teal, Weatherford, with a business administration degree from Oklahoma State University, and Steven Tolson, Woodward, who holds a degree in management from Central State University.

Dr. Gabriel says that admission to the program is not limited to students with degrees in business or business-related fields. Since the program began in the fall of 1977, more than 15 types of undergraduate majors have been represented.

"All bachelor of science degrees are accepted as long as the student meets certain prerequisites, which include the completion of 24 semester hours of prescribed courses in accounting, economics, management, marketing, business statistics and finance," notes Dr. Gabriel.

Food Class July 11-15

The Southwestern Oklahoma State University Department of Home Economics will be holding a one-week seminar July 11-15.

The seminar is titled "Food Preservation" and will meet from 1:30-5:30 daily. Representatives from the Kerr Glass Company will lead the class in laboratory experiences in canning, freezing, pickling, and jelly-making. Dr. Virginia Dick will instruct the class.

For more information concerning the seminar, Dr. Dick can be reached at 772-6611, Ext. 3072.

Heart attack and stroke will kill about 850,000 Americans this year. Thousands of these deaths could be prevented by knowing and recognizing the early warning signals. Ask your local Heart Association.

New Drunk Driving Law Will Assess Stricter Penalties

Between now and the end of the year, more than 23,000 Oklahomans will lose their driving privileges for at least 90 days if April's trend continues. Under the state's new drunk driving law, 2,637 drivers have had their licenses suspended for a minimum

Camp Set

The Southwestern State University Department of Music will present the 1983 Cheerleader/Pom Pon Summer Camp June 27-30. This camp will be under the direction of the World Cheerleading Council of Dallas, Tex.

Cost of camp is $65 for on-campus residents or $35 for commuters. Make your reservations early to avoid disappointment.

For enrollment forms or more information write to: Department of Music, Southwestern State University, Weatherford, OK 73096. Deadline for registration is June 13. An advance deposit of $35 per person is required with pre-registration. Make checks and money orders payable to: SWOSU Music Department.

of 90 days as the result of "driving under the influence" arrests made during April.

A total of 3,083 DUI revocation forms were sent to the Oklahoma Department of Public Safety during April. Of those, 2,477 surrendered their licenses because a breath test showed them to be driving with an alcohol concentration of 0.10 (ten-hundredths) or above. The remaining 606 lost their licenses because they refused to submit to a test for intoxication.

Of the 3,083 who surrendered their licenses, 446 have filed written requests to appeal the suspensions.

Under the new law, which became effective April 1, the arresting officer immediately seizes the license of any driver who fails a test for intoxication or who refuses to take the test. He then forwards it to ODPS along with a breath analysis report or a refusal affidavit.

The driver is issued a 30-day temporary driving permit, pending an appeal of the license suspension. A written request for an administrative hearing must be filed with ODPS within 15 days from the date of arrest.

The arresting officer then files the drunk driving charge in addition to the license suspension.

"Those 2,637 drivers who chose not to appeal are automatically under suspension 30 days from the date of arrest," said Public Safety Commissioner Paul W. Reed Jr. "We expect the number of suspensions for April to go much higher as the appeal process is completed," he said. In the past, more than 90% of all suspensions have been upheld.

"Just looking at our experience during the first month under the new law, we could easily suspend more than 23,000 licenses by the end of the calendar year," Reed said. "Compare that to 8,180 alcohol-related license revocation orders issued on 1981 convictions and 9,862 issued so far for convictions for 1982 DUI arrests." Complete figures will not be available for either year until all cases are processed through the court system.

"However, we would hope that as potential drinking drivers realize we're very serious about enforcing the law, they'll voluntarily decide not to drive after they've been drinking," said Reed. "When that happens, I think we'll see a decline in the number of arrests and subsequently, the number of license suspensions," he said.

Music Camp, July 4-8

The Southwestern State University Department of Music will present a Marching-Concert Percussion Camp July 4-8. Cort McClaren, faculty member at Southwestern, will direct the camp. Emery Alford of Western Kentucky University will guest direct.

Registration for the camp will be July 4 in the Music Building lobby from 3 to 5 p.m. Fees for the camp are $40 for tuition and $40 for room and board. For three or more students from the same school tuition fees will be $35 each.

Tuition is refundable only if request is received before 6:00 p.m., June 21. All junior and senior high school students must be housed on campus in dormitory-style housing unless other arrangements are approved by the Director of Housing.

The 1983 Percussion Camp will be dedicated to a philosophy of "total" development. Topics of discussion and performance will relate to the role of percussionists in Marching Band, Concert Band, and Percussion Ensemble.

Computer Seminars Are Set

The Southwestern Oklahoma State University School of Education will be offering a variety of things this summer. They include several workshops and seminars.

The School of Education will sponsor two computer workshops for gifted and creative students. The first workshop will be held July 5-8 for grades 7-9, and the second July 11-14 for grades 4-6. The workshops will be conducted in Room 103 of the Education Building.

The workshops, which require no computer experience, will include such topics as introduction to microcomputers, elementary computer operations, math and language arts educational games, word processing and creative writing. The classes will meet from 1-4 p.m. daily.

Cost for the workshop is $75 per person, and a $25 deposit is required. Enrollment for the workshops will be limited to 20 students for each session.

For more information contact Dr. Robert Kirk at 772-6611, Ext. 3140, or Mrs. Lavon Acton, principal of Washington Elementary School in Clinton at 323-0311.

The School of Education will also be sponsoring two seminars this summer for area teachers.

The first, "Logo-Computer Language for Elementary Students," will be primarily for elementary teachers. Those taking the seminar will learn to use the Logo Language from a prepared program which will allow their students to perform arithmetic and elementary art using graphics such as turtles, elephants, and spirals. The class will meet from June 20-24, 1:45-5:45 p.m. each day in the Elementary Education Laboratory in the Education Building on the Southwestern campus.

The second seminar, which will be held July 11-15 from 1:45-5:45 p.m., is entitled "Strategies for Teaching Multi-Cultural American Students." This class will be concerned with strategies for teaching these students based on the culture of the home. Materials will be provided to assist the teachers to incorporate cultural concepts into the basic subjects taught in the public school. The class will also meet in the Elementary Education Laboratory.

Teachers may enroll in these classes up until, and including, their starting dates. For more information, contact Dr. Jim Kitchens at 772-6611, Ext. 3158.

Big Top Houses Superstition

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus will be appearing in Oklahoma City at the Myriad Thursday, June 23, through Sunday, June 26.

The circus, which is universally billed as the Greatest Show on Earth, will be presenting to the audience its all-new 113th Edition.

International celebrity Gunther Gebel-Williams will be on hand to thrill the audience with his daring feats with lions, tigers, and leopards. Gebel-Williams is presently the top animal-entertainment trainer in the world.

What few members of the audience will realize when they attend the circus is how the lives of the performers are laced with superstition. Even before Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus' daring aerialist Lillian Leitzel plunged to her death on Friday, the thirteenth of February, 1931, that day was considered ill-fated under the Big Top. However, this fear is rather prosaic when compared with some of the strange taboos weaved into the lives of circus performers.

Circus performers will enter the ring right foot first. It is not advisable to wish an artist "good luck" before the show. If there is no audience in the arena, performers will never sit on a ring curb with their backs to the empty seats, and it is taboo to count the house at showtime. Should there be someone knitting in the first few rows during a performance, beware!

Other strong taboos include eating peanuts or whistling in the dressing room, whistling "Home, Sweet Home," setting shoes on a shelf and eating green onions between shows. Those items not commonly found in sawdust circles are harmonicas and camel-back trunks, and once a wardrobe trunk is set down, it should not be moved.

Should some part of a costume inadvertently be donned backwards, circus people believe that it is unlucky to put it on correctly, and will perform with the article of clothing still reversed. To offset malign fate, some performers sew a small piece of red fabric into the bottom of their costumes.

Wearing peacock feathers is bad luck, as is the color green. Recently, a well-meaning worker in the stables decided to repaint all the shovels. He chose the color green. When the stablemaster discovered the new color scheme, he was adamant. All the shovels were immediately repainted red.

Elephants are considered good luck, and many artists wear rings or bracelets made from the mighty mammoth's hair to safeguard them.

Circus performers are human after all, and in a livelihood with the emphasis on risk, circus people don't take any unnecessary chances.

Tickets for the all-new 113th Edition of the Greatest Show on Earth, priced at $8, $7, $6, and $5, are available at Carson Attractions, the Myriad Box Office, Travel Mart in Edmond, and all John A. Brown stores.

Two Drum Major Camps Set

The Southwestern State University Department of Music will present Drum Major Camps featuring Ray Bell of Bixby as director. There will be two sessions of this camp. The first session will be held June 27 to July 1, and the second session will be held July 4 to July 8. The student may select either camp which fits into their schedule.

The drum major camp will be an opportunity to learn the latest marching style and drum major techniques. Enrollment in this camp will be limited to 30 participants so reservations should be made early. To reserve a space in this camp write for information and application form at: Music Department, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford, Okla. 73096. A deposit of $40 is required with the reservation and is refundable until June 20. The cost of the camp is $40 for tuition and $40 for room and board.

Michael Scott Whaley Joins Coaching Staff

The Board of Regents of Oklahoma Colleges and Universities has approved the addition of Michael Scott Whaley to the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Bulldog football coaching staff. Whaley, who will be responsible for the defensive secondary, will replace Woody Roof, who left Southwestern to take the head coaching position at Northwestern Oklahoma State University.

Whaley comes to Southwestern after a successful coaching stint at Mangum High School. His other coaching experience includes Charles Page High School in Sand Springs as well as a graduate assistantship under Bob Mazie at Southwestern in 1978-79.

Born in Oklahoma City, Whaley moved to Cleveland, Okla., at age nine and graduated from high school there. After two years at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., Whaley returned to Oklahoma and Southwestern State, where he received his B.S. in math education and his M.Ed. in education, with an emphasis in physical education.

As an athlete in high school, Whaley lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track, as well as being named an All-State Quarterback. In college, he played his freshman year at the Naval Academy before playing three years for coach Otis Delaporte at Southwestern. Whaley was a member of the 1977 "Apple Bowl" team that finished runner-up to the NAIA National Championships.

Whaley, who is married to the former Peggy Joyce Akers, has one child, Mary Elizabeth, age 11 months.

Drinking drivers lose their licenses... and that's not all!

Under a new Oklahoma law, a drinking driver loses his license for a minimum of 90 days on first offense of driving with an alcohol concentration of ten-hundredths (0.10) or above as determined by a test for intoxication. If he refuses the test, he loses his license for six months.

In either case, the arresting officer immediately seizes the license... BEFORE the driver is fingerprinted, charged with drunk driving and jailed... BEFORE he's convicted, fined and sentenced to a jail term... BEFORE he's hit with vehicle impoundment charges, court costs and attorney's fees.

Under Oklahoma's new DUI law, drinking drivers lose their licenses... and a lot more.
